Welcome to AKS Machine, Inc.

AKS Machine Inc. began operations on June 2, 2002. But don't let our age fool you! The management and personnel of AKS bring with them over 46 years of experience in the field of blowmold tooling from former employment with a national O.E.M. leader in blowmold machinery. Our specific expertise in the area of neck tooling for the proper fitment of bottle closures is unsurpassed in the industry.

We offer a variety of products and services to the plastic bottle blowmolding industry. Our primary products will be replacement wear components for plastic bottle mold and blowmolding machinery. Our new smaller independent operation will allow us to offer competitive pricing while maintaining the product quality we have built our reputations on. We can provide technical support and quality control assistance to bottle producers by offering free bottle sample evaluations as compared to industry established standards. We are strategically located within minutes of Ontario International Airport in Southern California, so we can provide expedited shipping options when needed.

Please feel free to visit our new web page often. We will be continually updating it with reference materials, technical updates, and product information as we grow our business. We can be contacted via telephone, fax, or e-mail. We look forward to continuing or renewing our business relationships with all of you at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Arneld Parker
